

Abstract

The invention relates to a filter circuit comprising filter means for filtering an input signal so as to obtain a filtered signal. Said filter circuit comprises an analog to digital converter, wherein an output of said filter means is directly connected to an input of said analog to digital converter.